

CLAIM(S):

I claim:

2. A Spray Applicator Belt Hook comprising a belt hook and a retaining hook;

said belt hook having a body back, body front and brace, wherein said body back and said body front are joined at their tops, spaced by a brace affording said body front and said body back with enough flexibility to clear the thickness of a belt and return to, or exert a force in the direction of, the static said belt hook, wherein the outer face of said body back is worn towards the wearer;

said retaining hook having a rest and a rest guard wherein said rest is joined to said body at an acute angle to the horizontal suited to the underside of a spray applicators mechanism, said rest guard projecting from the end of said rest to aid retaining the spray applicator.

Sub C3 >